Annual Report on Peer Review Activities
Date Issued January 3, 2023

I. Administering Entity Oversight Process and Procedures

Oversight Selection

The Society of Louisiana CPAs Peer Review Committee established Oversight Policies for the selection of peer reviews and reviewers for oversight based on the criterion as outlined in Chapter 2 of the AICPA Peer Review Program Oversight Handbook.

Firms and peer reviewers are subject to oversight. Oversight of system reviews may include visiting the firm as part of the peer review process (on-site oversight) or reviewing specific engagement(s) (engagement oversight). An engagement oversight is generally performed after a system review is complete. Oversight of engagement reviews is generally performed after the peer review is complete.

Oversight of peer reviews should follow a risk-based approach. The selections for oversight may be made randomly or targeted to address concerns about the firm to be reviewed or the peer reviewer.

Firms may be selected for oversight based on several factors including but not limited to the types of peer review reports previously received, a member of the firm performing multiple peer reviews, high-risk engagements performed by the firm, or the fact that it's the firm's first peer review.

Reviewers may be selected due to factors including but not limited to frequent submission of pass reports, conducting reviews for firms with audits in high-risk industries, the performance of their first peer review, performing high volumes of reviews, or may be selected at random. Oversight of a reviewer can also occur due to performance deficiencies such as the issuance of an inappropriate peer review report or failure to properly reach the appropriate conclusion during a review.

Oversight Process

A member of the Society of Louisiana CPAs Peer Review Committee or other approved qualified individual will perform the oversight. For system reviews and must-select engagement oversights, the individual must meet the requirements for serving as a team captain and have the appropriate industry experience and current peer review training.

The AICPA Peer Review Program Oversight Checklists are utilized on all oversight engagements. Oversight reports are tracked and maintained in an electronic file in the AICPA Peer Review Information Application (PRIMA). The reviewer is expected to respond to the oversight comments within 14 days of receiving the report via PRIMA.

A system review oversight includes a review of the complete peer review process, including attendance at the exit conference. An engagement oversight (performed either off-site or on-site) is the review of all peer reviewer workpapers and the reviewed firm's financial statements and working papers on the engagement. Oversight of engagement reviews includes a review of the selected report, financial statements and engagement working papers prepared by the reviewed firm that the review captain previously reviewed, as well as the peer review report and complete reviewer's working papers.

Minimum Requirements

A minimum of two oversights, which is based on a minimum of 1% of peer reviews performed during the period January 1, 2022, through December 31, 2022, will be selected. Within the 1% selected, there will be a minimum of one of each type of peer review evaluated (one system and one engagement review).
